

Promotional Path Opportunities for Staff and the Impact on the Greater Community

MAY 7, 2019 | 12 - 1 P.M. | HUB 302

Elizabeth Heise

American Council on Education (ACE) Fellow &
Vice Provost for Faculty Affairs and Diversity, University of Texas Rio Grande Valley

Elizabeth Heise, American Council on Education (ACE) Fellow, will discuss her ACE project and start a discussion about the role of professional development and leadership opportunities for staff at universities. She sees the success of the staff as a key component to student success. Come to this discussion to learn about her project and to start conversations about staff success.

An associate professor in the School of Earth, Environmental and Marine Sciences at the University of Texas Rio Grande Valley, Heise's role as leader of the General Faculty Development Program oversees the use of Faculty Portfolio Tool (Digital Measures) for faculty reviews and promotions. She has been chair of the UT System Faculty Advisory Council, UTB Faculty Senate president, and a department chair.
